

Threatened Plants and Animals of Australia

The following is a list and links to lists of threatened plants and animals in Australia. The lists are categorised by states and territories. Each state or territory has their own legislation and policies for the listing of threatened species and so some plants and animals may be considered threatened in one state but not in another. The ranges or the areas where species exist also influences decisions.

The threatened species for Victoria have been provided in full on this website, but for every other state in Australia the website links have been provided to view the list of plants and animals that are threatened in each respective state.

Please bear in mind that information is constantly changing and these changes should be updated on the web links provided here.
